BEFORE YOU BEGIN

How this list works

Nothing here is held in stock. Every piece is made from scratch, to your size, in your timber, and finished to your colour. The prices below are the starting points for the shapes we make most often.

THE FOUR COLUMNS

Oak, cherry, mahogany, walnut

Each piece is priced in the four timbers we hold and work. Oak is the house timber and the price most people quote from. Cherry, mahogany and walnut carry the timber's own cost and the extra care each takes at the bench.

SIZES

In centimetres and inches

Width × depth × height. Inches are converted from the metric figure and rounded to the nearest quarter. The sizes shown are the ones we make most often — not a limit. A table three inches longer costs what it costs, and we will tell you before you commit.

FINISH

Colour and polish are yours

Prices include our standard hand-applied polished finish. Natural, undistressed and matched-to-sample colours are priced separately under Timber selections and finishes.

CHAIRS

Frames are priced without seats

Chair prices are for the frame. Drop-in, wrap-around and fully upholstered seats are listed under Upholstery, priced per seat, in your material or in leather supplied by us.

LEAD TIME

Twelve weeks, normally

From approved drawings to delivery, for a standard piece. When the workshop is busy it can run to fifteen or sixteen, and a one-off usually adds four weeks on top. We give you a date, not a range, and we confirm it when you order.

ORDERING

Samples, drawings, then a deposit

Timber and finish samples are £10 each, refunded against your order. We then draw the piece, in CAD and again at full size on a rod, and nothing is cut until you have approved it. A 40% deposit is taken at that point; the balance falls due ten days before delivery.

Prices, VAT and validity

All prices are in pounds sterling and include VAT at 20%. They are the prices we are working to from 1 September 2026 and are held for 90 days from the date of a written quotation.

This list replaces every earlier price list. Where a piece is not shown, or you want something we have not made before, we will quote it properly rather than guess at it.

The painted range

Painted pieces are hand-painted in the workshop in a colour of your choosing. Where a piece has an oak top, the top is polished, not painted.

Timber selections and finishes

Our standard price assumes our standard timber selection: good, clean, character-free stock chosen at the bench. Ask for something particular in the board — pippy, medullary, knot-free, a colour matched to a sample — and the timber has to be searched for, bought in and often bought in quantity to find enough of it. The surcharges below reflect that, and the extra time at the polisher's bench.

SELECTION OR FINISH	SURCHARGE
Character oak, for tables Boards chosen for figure, colour and movement rather than for evenness — knots, shakes and a good deal of life in the grain.	add 13%
Pippy oak, light — tops only Pippy boards are found, not ordered. The price turns on how much stock must be bought to find enough of it.	On application
Pippy oak, medium — tops only As above, with a denser scatter of pip across the board.	On application
Pippy oak, heavy — tops only The densest pip we will use on a top. Scarce, and quoted on the boards we can find.	On application
Oak selected for medullary ray Quarter-sawn and picked so the ray figure shows across the surface.	On application
Oak selected against medullary ray Picked so the ray figure is kept off the show face, for an even, quiet surface.	On application
Clean timber, no knots at all In any of the four timbers. A great deal of board has to be bought and cut to find it.	On application
Natural colour, or an undistressed finish Left at the timber's own colour, with no distressing. A less forgiving finish, and longer at the polisher's bench.	On application
Colour matched to your sample Built up and checked against the sample at the bench until it is right.	On application

Pieces we build in the room

PIECE	CHARGE
Beds and wardrobes Made to knock down so they will go up a stair and through a door. They cannot travel with a carrier: we bring them ourselves and build them in the room. Already included in the listed price.	£450
Fitted and built-in work Studies, libraries, dressing rooms and other fitted joinery. Fitting is priced into the quotation for the work, so there is nothing further to pay for delivery.	Included

Stairs and upper floors

Delivery is to a ground-floor room of your choosing as standard. We are glad to carry a piece upstairs, but it must be agreed before you place the order rather than on the doorstep — we need to know the stair, the turn and the doorway, and it almost always calls for two of our people.

We do not deliver above the first floor without prior arrangement. Where a piece cannot go up a stair at all, we will say so at the drawing stage and either design it to come apart or advise on a hoist. Neither is a problem if we know early; both are a problem on the day.

NOTICE

About eight weeks' warning

We contact you to agree a date once the piece is through the finishing shop — usually around eight weeks ahead, so it can be planned properly rather than sprung on you. A time window follows the evening before. Any day of the week, agreed with you.

ACCESS

The survey is free

If there is any doubt about getting a piece in, we come and measure the route first, at no charge. Narrow or winding stairs, half-landings with a tight turn, doorways under 762mm, low door heads, external steps. Where necessary we alter the construction so the piece comes apart and makes the turn.

ON THE DAY

Someone over 18, a clear room, parking

Decide the position in advance and move any rug into place first. Check the piece with the team before they leave — in daylight, doors and drawers open. We take the packaging away with us.

Freestanding furniture is delivered and placed. Where a job also involves fitted work, Reeve & Co Interiors installs on site, and Square & True does the same for kitchens.

IF THE HOUSE IS NOT READY

We will hold the piece

Building works overrun. The first week of storage is free; after that it is £50 a week. Tell us as early as you can and we will work round it.

IF WE CANNOT DELIVER

A wasted journey costs £450

If nobody is there on an agreed date, or a piece cannot go in because of access we were not told about, a failed-delivery charge of £450 applies. Both are avoidable, and a free survey avoids the second one entirely.

FURTHER AFIELD

Islands, Highlands and abroad

Quoted separately. Anything shipped rather than delivered by us arrives crated, and the placement and on-site assembly described here will not usually apply. Tell us the destination and we will come back with a proper answer rather than an estimate.

One-off pieces and specials

We are always happy to make a piece that is not in this list — and a good deal of our work is exactly that. It is worth understanding what it costs, though.

The designs here are made repeatedly. The rods are drawn, the cutters are ground, the setters know the joints. A one-off has none of that behind it: it has to be drawn from nothing, set out at full size on a new rod, and often needs a cutter ground for a single moulding. That is administration and bench time a repeated design does not carry, and it is why a special can cost more than a catalogue piece of the same size — sometimes a good deal more, even when it is smaller.

Allow four weeks on top of the standard twelve, and expect a quotation rather than a list price. We will always give you the figure before anything is cut.

Matching what you already own

A good part of our work is a piece made to sit beside something a client already has — a table lengthened, a dresser copied, a chair made up to a set. Send photographs and a few measurements and we will tell you honestly whether it can be matched, what it will take, and what it will cost. Timber is chosen for grain and colour, mouldings are copied properly rather than approximated, and the polish is matched by eye at the bench.

Made to order

Every piece is made from scratch to your specification — your size, your timber, your finish, drawn and approved by you before a board is cut. Nothing here is a stock item.

Because of that, the 14-day cancellation right under the Consumer Contracts Regulations 2013 does not apply to our furniture, and an order cannot be cancelled or returned once the drawings are approved and making has begun.

This does not affect your legal rights. If a piece arrives damaged, faulty, or not as we described it, we will put it right.

Terms

Prices

All prices include VAT at 20%. Effective 1 September 2026 and held for 90 days from the date of a written quotation. This list supersedes all previous price lists.

Payment

40% deposit on order, with the balance due ten days before delivery. Terms are confirmed in writing on each order.

Timber

Oak, cherry, mahogany and walnut are natural materials. Colour, figure and small movement vary from board to board and piece to piece, and are characteristics rather than defects.

Sizes

Dimensions are nominal and subject to the small variation inherent in hand-made work. Where a piece must fit an opening, we measure on site.

Lead time

Normally twelve weeks from approved drawings for a standard piece, and up to sixteen when the workshop is busy; add four weeks for a one-off. Your date is confirmed when you order.

Access

It is the client's responsibility to confirm that a piece will pass through doors, stairs and turns. Tell us the tight spot at the drawing stage and we will design around it.

BRYN HALL

Come and see it made.

The workshop is open by appointment. It is worth the drive — you will see the rods on the wall, the timber in stick, and very probably the piece you are thinking about, half made on the bench.
